Rumer that Barbour would Retire

Flatly Contradicted.

Special Dispatch to THE EVENING STAR.

RICHMOND, VA., Dec. 4.-A rumor has been affoat here this morning that in consequence of an alleged unsatisfactory result of last aight's caucus deliberations, the triends of Mr. Sarbour would probably retire him from the enatorial contest, and in the interest of party narmony, etc., allow the election of Daniel in the caucus of next Monday night without opposition. Mr. Barbour's management give out the following answer to that rumor: First, the vote in caucus last night was in no ense disappointing to them, or any proposition submitted for action. Second, Mr. Barbour would not, even if he tnew his defeat inevitable, withdraw, his friends insisting that he is the choice in a most preponderating degree of the democratic people of the state, who, to say the least, are entitled to know the position of their senators and delegates in this contest. Third, his supporters in the legislature are as compact, resolute and determed set of followers him to the last. So much for what his managers announce. LAST NIGHT'S CAUCUS. Now, as to last night's caucus indications. It must not be forgotten that after a somewhat desultory challenge of Daniel's supporters to a vote last night, they began proceedings by a proposition to take the vote to-night. To this motion Delegate Keen, of Pittsylvania, who is much more likely a Daniel than a Barbour man, proposed a substitute naming next Wednesday night as the time. The vote taken on the resolution for what seemed in the eyes of many an unnecessary delay, resulted-ayes 35, noes 55. The vote then recurring on the original resolution to nominate to-night, it was voted down by a vote of 49. to 44. Then Monday night next was fixed on, which gives to the Barbour party three or four more days of time than the friends of Danie were disposed either on yesterday or the day efore to grant.

resolution naming to-night as the time for be-ginning the vote, the field voted with the adnerents of Barbour, and so they announce a Daniel victory, in the fact that the entire opposition to him cannot be larger than the forty-nine who voted against his resolution, The caucus, consisting of a possible one hundred, had ninety-three present on that vote. The field, which is a small one, and now reduced to the friends of Judge Staples, numbers about ten The last analysis of the situation is that Daniel is stronger than the friends of Barbour believed him to be, and while he has not a major ity of the 100 democratic members, he is well advanced in that direction. But the contest is not ended. Had ex-Congressman Fulkerson's proposition to nominate certain executive offices of the state before balloting for Senator been adopted there is no telling what the effect would have been on the senatorial vote, assuming that combinations based on a proposed disposal of offices have been entered into by the opponents of Barbour as charged against them. Fulkerson's resolution was only defeated by three or four votes.

The Daniel management assert that on their

A BANK ROBBED OF $12,000. Robbers Blow the Safe Open With Giaut

PITTSBURG, Dec. 4.-About 4 o,clock this morning the private banking house of Beutel & Co., of Freedom, Pa., twenty-eight miles west of Pittsburg, was robbed of $12,000 in cash and due to the robbers. PARTICULARS OF THE ROBBERY.

FREEDOM, PA., Dec. 4 .- At three o'clock this norning the citizens of this place were startled by a loud explosion. Several rushed out on the reets to ascertain the cause. William Bashore, running out of the building. He shouted and alarm an started after them. The fleeing burgers turned and fired several shots at him, none of which took effect. Bashore being unarmed turned about and ran to home. An investigation led to discovery that the four doors to the immense safe-in the bank had been blown from their fastenings, and that between $7,000 and 88,000 in cash and $1,150 in government bonds were missing. A number of valuable papers and notes were partially destroyed by the explosion. Considerable money and a large package of bonds were left in the safe. An entrance to the building had been effected by forcing the front doors.

ONE HUNDRED AND SEVENTY-FIVE CALLERS. The Attorney General and the Secretary of War called upon the President after 1 o'clock to-day, so that the President did not make his appearance in the East room until two o'clock. Over a hundred and seventy-five visitors were awaiting him there. Most of these had been patiently waiting since noon. Many of them had become tired of standing and occupied seats on the stairs in the corridor and leaned seats on the stairs in the corridor and leaned wearily against the window sills. As soon as the President's approach was announced they flocked anxiously about the center of the room to be in readiness. Secretary Endicott came down stairs with the President and took his stand behind the President, and was an interested spectator of proceedings during the first part of the reception, but brought up the rear of the line with some personal friends, whom he introduced to the President. There were few interruptions in the steady procession, and the President had soon shaken hands with all who were present.

MR. LOGAN DECLINES. THE SENATE CAUCUS TO-DAY. Gen. Logan Unanimously Nominated by the Republican Caneus for President of the Senate-He Declines.

The repulican senatorial caucus was held in the reception room of the Senate to-day and Senator-elect Logan was unanimously nominated, and at once declined the nomination Senator Edmunds placed Mr. Logar in nomination, stating that he deserved it of the party. The utmost good feeling prevailed in the caucus. After Mr. Logan's declination the caucus adjourned until 11 o'clock to-morrow, without any further effort being made to nominate the president pro tempore. Following is a report of the caucus proceedings:

SENATOR EDMUNDS STATED in the caucus that when last summer the republicans of the nation in their convention nominated Gen.Logan for Vice President he (Mr. Edmunds) had thought it right toward Gen, Logan and toward the party, that he should retire from the presidency of the Senate and that Gen. Logan should be chosen in his place and, as they all remembered, he had communicated that opinion and desire to the republican Sena tors in a formal way; but it was thought best at that time that the change be not made, especially as Gen. Logan did not wish it to be made. At the election Gen. Logan had received, he believed, the votes of all the republicans who had the opportunity to vote, and came very near being the choice of the whole people for the office of Vice President, which would have made him exofficio the President of the Senate and, under he law, charged with the duty of carrying on e government in case of any disability of the President of the United States until an election could he had. In this state of things, he thought it right that the republican Senators should renew their expression of confidence in Gen Logan by presidential that the republican senators are the senators of the senators are the senators of the senators are the in Gen. Logan by nominating him for President of the Senate, and he accordingly moved that Gen. Logan be so nominated by acclama

Several Senators spoke briefly in favor of the nomination, and the question was taken and agreed to unanimously. The chairman announced the unanimous nomination of John A. ogan as the republican candidate for President pro tempore of the Senate.

MR. LOGAN DECLINES. Thereupon, Gen. Logan said, as follows: Mr. Chairman.-From the depths of my heart thank the republican Senators for the confidence they repose in me, as expressed by the omination just tendered me by accamation the position of temporary presiding officer of the Senate. I not alone thank them, but the people of the whole country for the desire they seem to feel that I should be given this very honorable posi-

I was, however, sir, the nominee of the re lican party for Vice President and voted for the last election. I was not elected. For that nomination I then thanked the republican party, and through the Senators present again return to the republicans of the country my grateiui acknowledgments. It I thought that I could better serve my constituents and my country by accepting this position, I would most unhesitatingly do so, nd perform the duties to the best of my ability I do not so think, and am sure that I can, by work necessary to be performed on committees and otherwise, do more that may be useful by remaining in my present position.

In fact, Mr. chairman, the position is not to my taste, and unless I thought that I could perform the duties in a more satisfactory manier than other Senators (which I do not), I cansee a necessity for me to occupy the chair in preference to any of my brother Senators. The Senate has at all times been presided over in a most satisfactory manner since I have had the honor to be one of its members, and doubtless will be so again by any one that may be selected. I am ready to assist in elevating any one who may of Pittsburg, was robbed of $12,000 in cash and securities. The robbery was committed by four men, who exploded the safe with glant powder, kindness and the great compliment paid me, shattering the windows and walls. There is no but you must allow me to say that, after carefully considering the matter, I feel that I ought to decline this nomination, and now most respectfully do so. After some remarks made by several Senators in deprecation of the declination of General Logan, he said that he had arrived at the conclusion expressed by him after full deliberation, and wished it considered as final. On motion the injunction of secrecy was re moved from the proceedings. WHO WILL GET IT? Senators, after the caucus, declined to express their opinion as to who would receive the nomination, but rumor gave it to Senator Allison. Mr. Sherman is spoken of also, and there is said to be a possibility that Mr. Edmunds will be offered the nomination. It is said to have been settled beforehand just what would take place. Mr. Edmunds' canvass for re-election to the Senate, It is said, had much to do with shaping these ends. The opposition to his return, led by ex-Governor Smith, were using it against him that he opposed the election of Blaine and Logan during the campaign. His action in nomi-nating Mr. Logan to-day sweeps all this away and places him in a good light before his con-

It is the opinion of some of the republican Senators that the caucus will unanimously tender the nomination to Senator Edmunds. In the caucus to-morrow, after the selection question of a reduction of the force of employes will probably be taken up. Under a resolution of the republican caucus last session a committee made inquiry into the number of employes, the duties of each, and the feasibility of reduction. Further inquiry has since been made, and it is thought some reduction of force will be ordered. Mr. Blair Was Not a Candidate. It is stated at the White House that Mr. Woodbury Blair was not a candidate for the

WHO WILL BE LEADER? Talk Among Republican Represents

DISCUSSING THE PROBABLE NOMINATION OF THEIR PARTY FOR SPEAKER OF THE HOUSE. Many Representatives were in the hall of the House to-day and there was quite a spirit of activityand interest mauffest, Messrs. Reed and Hiscock were busy talking with the republican members, and the question of who would be the republican nominee for Speaker was the most Interesting topic of discussion. The New York members as a unit are going to support Hiscock, and express the opinion that he stands a chance of getting the nomination. Besides Hiscock and Reed, Messrs. Long, of Massachusetts, and McKinley, of Ohio, are spoken of.

Long's candidacy would hurt Reed, but the opinion is expressed that he (Long) will not desire the nomination where there is no chance of election, but would rather remain a little in the background until the leadership of the the background until the leadership of the party in the house has more significance. Mr. Reed's strength lies in his power in attacking and answering the opposite party in debate. He is considered the ablest man in the House on a quick retort.

HIS REPORT AMENDED.

Gen. Hazen's Criticisms of Lieut. Garlington Withdrawn - The Reason

from that originally submitted to the Secretary of War, has created no little interest in army circles. In his original report the chief signal officer quotes at length from the report of Lieut. Greely, and then criticises severely the course pursued by Lieutenant Garlington on the Proteus expedition, particularly as regards the false hopes of relief extended by the record left by Lieut. Garling-ton, and the alleged modification of the record left by Garlington as to the cache on Littleton Island. The original record simply referred to "a cache on Littleton Island," which was naturally supposed to be a large one, while in the copy submitted to the Proteus court it was referred to as a cache of only "two hundred and fifty rations." In the amended report the chief signal officer's criticisms are omitted. The report as originally printed, received quite a large distribution, seven or eight hundred copies have been issued before it was amended. The amended copy leaves page 27, which contained the criticisms of the chief signal of the chief signal. of the chief signal officer, almost an entire blank. It is learned that the amended report is the one that has been sent to the public printer, and will be regarded as the official re-

GEN. HAZEN WOULD NOT SAY WHY. A STAR reporter asked Gen. Hazen to-day thing further than that the report had been with the signal service, it was only proper that the matter referred to should be omitted.

THE REAL REASON. It is learned, however, that the real reason for amending the report was an intimation from the Secretary of War that the objectionable portion should be culled from it, which fact accounts for the amended report being regarded as the official document. It is known that Lieut. Garlington wrote to the War deattack, which no doubt was the cause of the action of the Secretary of War.

A Case of Highway Bobbery Only. POLICE THEORY AS TO THE ASSAULT ON MRS. FEARS THAT THE BARGE BRITTAIN HAS BEEN AMANDA DAVIS. Many of the officers of the police force regard the alleged outrage on Mrs. Amanda Davis on where she was found. In support of this theory they cite the fact that when found her clothing was not disordered and her limbs were in a perfectly natural position.

Detectives Edelin and Mattingly are still at work on the case, but as no description of the man can be obtained, not even his color, it is not likely that any arrest will be made. Mrs. Davis is reported as being better to-day.

> The Nardello Murder Trial. [CONTINUED FROM FIRST EDITION.]

Salvatore Scuari testified that he had seen Nardello the last time on Wednesday morning. about 5 o'clock, before his arrest. Witness was going out to work on an engine, and saw Nardello sitting on the side of the road. Nardello did not have a hat on, and he said hats and he leaned one to Nardello. Witness saw Nardello the same day at the Police Court about 10 o'clock, Nardello having been robbed of $15 and appearing there as witness, Nardello then went to a boarding h use on 4½ street, taking witness with him. Witness left him (N.) there. Noticed that he had his finger hurt, and he (N.) stated that he cut it with a knife as he wascutting a piece of wood. Nardello that day asked witness if he would sell his watch and get a $20 bill changed and paid $4 to witness for the watch, Saw that Nardello had more money in his pocket book. After Nardello was arrested witness was asked by the officers if he knew about Nardello getting the money changed, and he said he did. Nardello denied changing the bill, but witness contronted him, and he admitted that he did. Louis Mayint testified that he saw Nardello on the 25th of July near the Chain bridge, and again on the 29th of July on North Capitol lost his hat, and witness loaned him a hat. Witness corroborated Scuari as to the trial at

"But you can go to bed and let us sleep on the floor in this room can't you?"

"Y-e-s, but—but——"

"I e-s, but—but—"
"Oh, you needn't have any fear of us madam," protested the colonel.
"It isn't that sir, but—"
She blushed like a rose, but none of us could understand until she said:
"Well, to tell the truth, my beau will be here to-night."
"In this storm?"
"Oh you need to not see that the said is to night." "Oh, yes. He would come if it rained pitch-

"Well, we won't hurt William."

"No, sir, but we—that is, he will expect to spark me, and—and—"

"Exactly," said the colonel. "I see the situation. You don't want to disappoint William?"

"No, sir, and I don't want to turn you gentlemen out either. You see, sir, it's probably my only chance to get married, and it won't do to affend William. This is his sparking night and he's got to come five miles."

"Well, we won't stand in the way; we will hunt some other place."

"No, sir, you shall stay; but you see how it is. I think I can fix it. I'll take this room, and you three can have the bedroom."

"What! Deprive you of sleep?"

"Oh, no, sir. William and I always spark till daylight. If you would only fix it that way sir."

A Set-to at West Point From the United Service Promptly the principals would throw off uniform coats and caps, unsling suspenders, if they were them-few cadets ever did-and then the seconds would see to it that rings were removed from the fingers. The referee would caution the crowd against the faintest cheer of noise, and order them to keep well back if "rough-and-tumble" was decided on, or to form a ring if it were "stand-up." The former was most in favor, as being quicker, sooner over among evenly matched men and tomble" it generally was, unless a pair of scientific beaers were pitted in the ring. Kicking, goughat, biting or striking below the belt were never permitted an instant. The fight was lost to him whose temper might betray him into such a thing, and no cadet was bound to give him satisfaction in the future. Those things were well understood. In three minutes from their arriunderstood. In three minutes from their are val in the fort the seconds had their men it readiness, the referee quietly needed "go ahead," the men were brought up face to face, and, with no other formality, let fly at each other's headpiece. For two minutes, perhaps, they would make the air lively with resounding thuds, the blows would be thick and fast, and the combatants would dance around at a lively rate. Then would come the clinch, the straining wrestle, and then the heavy infl to earth, with the seconds bending over and watching every move, and the excited crowd muttering-not shouting-cheer of counsel, the struggle would last until the exhaustion of one party proved him defeater. My route is laid out to cover just nine year it is the same. My sleeping car berths are always engaged a year shead. I always have the same berth, ride in the same back, and the former trips. This is all arranged in advance. When I call upon a customer and get his order I tell him that at the same hour exactly one year hence I will be with him again. At every hotel my room is ready for me, with a fire in the grate, my slippers before it, my dressing gown hanging in the wardrobe, pictures of my wife and family upon the walls, and my letters and telegrams upon the centre table. This, too, is all arranged months ahead. I have four sets of slippers, gowns, pictures, etc. and as soon as I leave the hotel these are packed up and sent ahead of me by express, to be arranged previous to my arrival in another hotel. I ever order my meals a year in advance, and by referring to my schedule can tell you within a minute where I will dine and what I will eat any given day months hence. Of course I am called a crank, but I take delight in these things. It costs but little and makes travel for the a constant pleasure. The greatest satisfaction I have in life is in carrying out these precise methods. Excuse me, but I get off here, and over there I see my backman wit
